1. Overview

1.1. Purpose of the guide

This document provides guidance on how to use and configure employee & employer notice periods on People XD. Notice Periods can be configured, assigned, and maintained in a number of different ways within PeopleXD. This guide will cover:

- Notice Period Rules Configuration
- Terms & Conditions
- Employee Record

1.2. What is a notice period?

From an employer's perspective, a notice period is the length of time that is given to an employee before their contract of employment can be terminated. Likewise, an employee must give their employer notice if they intend to leave their position.

The primary aim behind employment notice periods is to provide both parties with an opportunity to plan for the impact of the termination of a working relationship. Notice periods help minimise business disruption and protect employers against the risks of a sudden departure by a key employee.

Note: Notice periods will display by default on the Process as Leaver screen. This can be hidden if it is not required by your organisation. See section 2.3 Notice Period Parameter for further detail.

2. How to Configure

2.1. Menu Options

The following table shows the menu options that control access to notice period functionality within PeopleXD:

System	Menu Option	Menu ID	Description
People Management	Employer Notice Period Rules	ORGANISATIONAL_CONFIGURATION_MENU.EMPLOYER_NOTICE_PERIOD_RULES	This provides access to the Notice Period Setup screen on the People Management dashboard.
People Management	Notice Period	EMPLOYEE_DASHBOARD_MENU.HR_ADMIN_NOTICE_PERIOD_VIEW	This provides access to view the Notice Period section on the Employee Record.
People Management	Notice Period	EMPLOYEE_DASHBOARD_MENU.HR_ADMIN_NOTICE_PERIOD_UPDATE	This provides access to update the Notice Period section on the Employee Record.

2.2. Web Services

The following table shows the web services that control access to notice period data within PeopleXD:

System	Web Service	Menu ID
Web Services	Create noticeperiods	WS_ORG_MENU.POST_NOTICEPERIODS
Web Services	Delete noticeperiods	WS_ORG_MENU.DELETE_NOTICEPERIODS
Web Services	Get noticeperiods	WS_ORG_MENU.GET_NOTICEPERIODS
Web Services	Get noticeperiod	WS_PEOPLE_MENU.GET_NOTICEPERIOD
Web Services	Update noticeperiod	WS_PEOPLE_MENU.PATCH_NOTICEPERIOD

2.3. Notice Period Parameter

Notice periods will display by default on the Process as Leaver screen. This can be hidden if it's not required by your organisation. To manage this, follow the below steps:

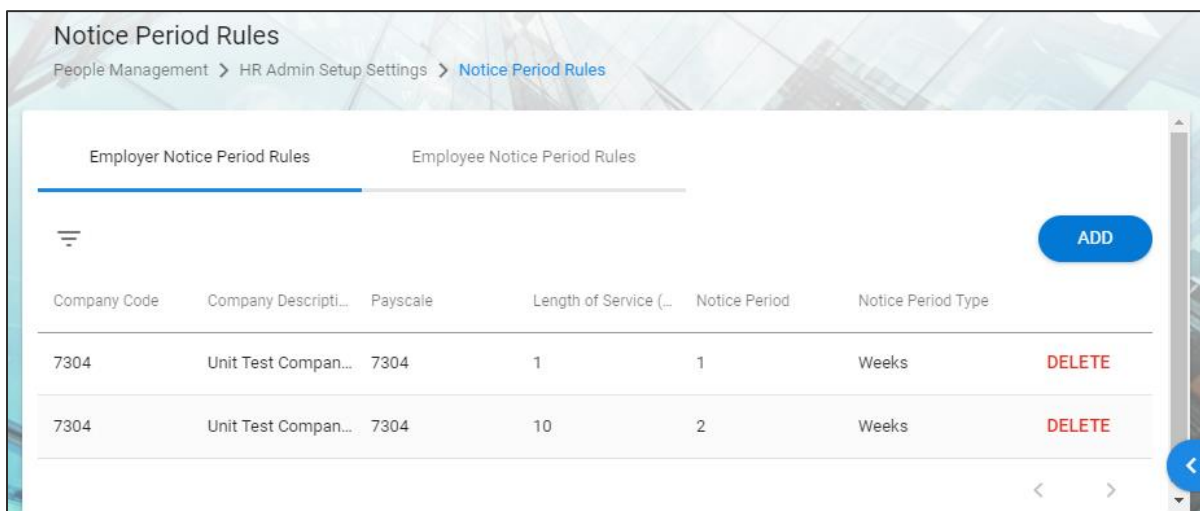

1. Navigate to the Administrator dashboard
2. From the Site Manager tab, click Open on the Admin Settings option
3. Search for cp_notice_period_hide
4. Click Edit to update the value
 - If Y, the notice period field will be hidden on the on the Process as Leaver screen.
 - If N, the notice period field will be visible on the on the Process as Leaver screen.

2.4. Notice Period Rules

Notice Periods Rules can be configured for both employee and employer, which specifies the notice each respective party should give based on the employee's length of service. For example, an employee with less than 2 years length of service might be required to give 3 months notice, whereas an employee with more than 2 years is required to give 6 months notice.

To access the Notice Period Rules screen, follow the steps below.

5. Navigate to the Data Centre.
6. Click Open on HR Admin Setup Settings.
7. Search for Notice Period Rules screen and click on the tile.
8. The Notice Period Rules screen appears.

The table below outlines what is shown on screen. Both tabs are populated with the same items:

Item	Description
Company Code	This shows the company code the notice period rule has been created against.
Company Description	This is the description / name of the company that the notice period rule has been created against.
Pay Scale	This is the Pay Scale Code the notice period rule has been created against.
Length of Service (Years)	This is the length of service in years that the notice period rule relates to.
Notice Period	This is a length of time in numeric format that the notice period is set up as. This is linked to the Notice Period Type field.
Notice Period Type	The following options are available for selection: • Days • Weeks • Months • Years
Add	This allows you to create a new notice period rule.
Delete	This allows you to delete an existing notice period rule.
Filter	This allow you to filter the data brought back on screen based on the items outlined above.

2.5. Adding a new Notice Period Rule

To create a new notice period for employers or employees, follow the below steps:

1. On the Employer Notice Period Rules or the Employee Notice Period Rules tab, click Add.
2. Fill in the details that appear on screen. The table below outlines the information that is needed.

The screenshot shows a web application interface for 'Notice Period Rules'. A modal dialog box titled 'Add a new Employer Period Rule' is open. The dialog contains four required fields: 'Company*', 'Pay Scale*', 'Length of Service (Years)', and 'Notice Period'. The 'Notice Period Type*' field is a dropdown menu. At the bottom of the dialog are 'CANCEL' and 'OK' buttons. In the background, a table lists existing rules with columns for 'Company Code' and 'Notice Period Type'. The table has three rows, each with a '1' in the 'Company Code' column and a '1' in the 'Notice Period Type' column. To the right of the table are 'ADD', 'DELETE', and 'DELETE' buttons. A blue arrow button is also visible on the right side of the dialog.

3. Click OK.

3. Terms & Conditions

3.1. Notice Periods within Terms & Conditions setup

The Notice Period Setup screen sets the rules in play for a Company and Pay Scale. They then cascade down to the Terms & Conditions screen. Varying Terms and Conditions templates can be created, which specify the employee/er notice periods. The T&Cs are attached to posts, which the employee then inherits when appointed to these positions. T&Cs notice periods can also reference length of service, through which the rules mentioned above would be cascaded down to the employee when appointed to these positions.

To ensure the Notice Periods Rule is assigned to the correct Terms & Conditions template, follow the below steps:

1. Navigate to the Data Centre.
2. Click Open on People Management.
3. Search for Terms and Conditions Setup and click on the tile.
4. The Terms and Conditions Setup screen opens.
5. To manage an existing template, click Edit from the three dot menu. Alternatively, click Add to create a new template.
6. On the Edit Template screen, ensure Reference 1 is set to the correct Company, and Reference 2 is set to the correct Pay Scale that the Notice Period Rule was set up against.

4. Employee Record

Within the employee record, notice periods can be entered and maintained by HR administrators, irrespective of how they have been assigned. For example, if the employee has not had any T&Cs notice periods cascaded down to them, then HR administrators can manually enter them on the employee record. Similarly, if the employee has had notice periods cascaded down to them via the T&Cs process, HR administrators can update them as required.

Note: Any updates to notice periods the employee record would not cascade up and impact the T&Cs template applied.

To manage an employee's notice periods, follow the steps below:

1. Navigate to the Command Centre.
2. Click Open on the Employees option.
3. Click View on the relevant employee record.
4. Click the Notice Periods section.

The screenshot shows the 'Peggy Carter (000349)' employee record in the PeopleXD system. The breadcrumb trail is 'People Management > Employee Search > Peggy Carter (000349)'. The employee's status is 'Active', and their role is 'Development Team Lead 7202'. The start date is '04-Sep-2023'. There are two payroll status buttons: 'Payroll Inactive' (red) and 'Payroll Open for Processing' (green). On the left sidebar, the 'Notice Period' option is highlighted with a red box. The main content area is titled 'Notice Periods' and contains two rows of dropdown menus for 'Employee Notice Period Type' and 'Employer Notice Period Type', each followed by an 'Employee Notice Period' and 'Employer Notice Period' field. A 'SAVE' button is located at the bottom right of the form.

5. Select the relevant Employee/Employer Notice Period Type from the dropdown menu.
6. Enter the Employee/Employer Notice Period.

Note: This step is not applicable when Length of Service is selected as the Employee/Employer Notice Period Type.

7. Click Save.

5. Leaving Process

5.1. Notice Periods for a Leaver

When an employee is being processed as leaver, after entering a Resignation Date or Notification Date the system will calculate the employee's leaving date as per their notice. It is possible to view their notice period information before their contract has been ended on the system.

To view this information, follow the steps below:

1. On the Process As Leaver screen, navigate to the Notice Periods section. The rules will be applied by default, with today's date as the resignation/notification date.
