See section 2.7.4 Update Vacancy Status Codes of this document for further details.

2.7. Interview Panel Configuration

2.7.1. Dashboards

The Interview Panel option is available as standard in the Interviews widget. Ensure that the Interviews widget is made available on CorePortal dashboards for all required audiences e.g. the Employee Dashboard.

! Note: This will be available by default on the Recruitment Dashboard. It is recommended to make this available as well on the Employee Dashboard or Manager Dashboard. This ensures that any employee on the Interview Panel for vacancy, who does not have access to the Recruitment Dashboard, can access the details of the vacancy & applicants on XD Portal.

2.7.2. Menu Profiles

All users who require access to the Interview Panel screen, must be granted access to the following Portal menu option in order to access their vacancies.

System	Menu Option
CorePortal	CorePortal - Erecruitment - View Interviews

! Note: The above steps can be repeated for all appropriate Menu Profiles. Remember, if the Interviews widget has been made available on the Recruitment Dashboard, Employee Dashboard and/or Manager Dashboard, the corresponding Menu Profiles for recruitment administrators, employees and managers need to be updated to include this menu option.

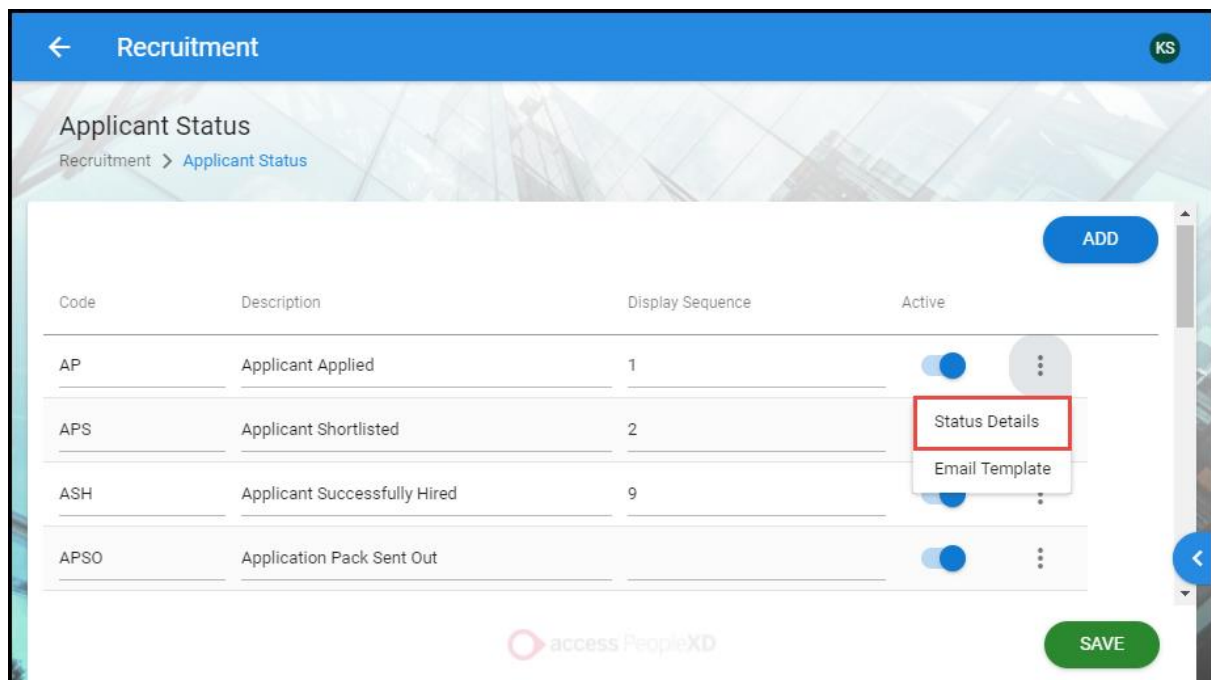

2.7.3. Applicant Status Codes

In order for the interview panel member to update the Applicant Status value for applicants on the Interview Panel, it is required to flag the specific set statuses that are available to them.

To flag the Applicant Status values:

- Interviews > View Assessment
- Interview Panel > View Applicants > Edit Status

2.7.4. Vacancy Status Codes

For the interview panel member to update the Vacancy Status value for their vacancy on the Interview Panel screen, it is required to flag the specific set statuses that are available to them.

To flag the Vacancy Status values:

2. Identify the Status Code values to be updated or create new codes if required.
3. Enable the Online Update option for the required codes.
4. Save your changes.

3. Shortlisting Groups

3.1. What are Shortlist Groups

The Shortlist Group feature is an extension of the Interview Panel functionality, which allows for the creation of groups of applicants who are then assigned out to individual panel members to review. A Shortlist Group is used to identify the specific set of applicants that will be assigned to an individual interview panel member to review

For example, 60 applicants apply for a vacancy and there are 3 interview panel members identified for this vacancy. It is possible to divide the applicants into separate 'shortlist groups' e.g.

Shortlist Group	# Applicants
Shortlist Group 1	20
Shortlist Group 2	20
Shortlist Group 3	20

Each group can then be assigned to an individual panel member to review as part of the shortlisting process i.e.

Shortlist Group	# Applicants
Shortlist Group 1	Alice Jones
Shortlist Group 2	Mary Murphy
Shortlist Group 3	John Smith

Each panel member will have access to the Interview Panel screen. Here they will see the vacancy that they are a panel member of. When they view applicants for that vacancy, the applicants displayed to them will be restricted to the list of the applicants in their prescribed Shortlist Group.

Note: All interview panel members must be added to the vacancy Interview Panel in order to be available to be linked to a Shortlist Group.

3.1.1. Managing Shortlist Groups

To manage a shortlist group, follow the below steps.

1. Quick Jump to Vacancies on the Recruitment Dashboard.

2. For the chosen vacancy click Actions and select Edit Vacancy.

5. Go to the Shortlist Assignment section.
6. The filter is defaulted to Current which ensures that the screen will by default, list only active Shortlist Groups as of today's date.
 - a. Updating the filter to Completed updates the screen to display any Shortlist Groups that were due to complete on a date earlier than today's date.

7. To create a new shortlist, click on the Add Shortlist button.
8. The Shortlist Details wizard opens on screen.

The Admin setting cp_rec_sl_restrict controls if a Shortlist Assignment is needed for an Interview Panel member to view all applicants on a Vacancy. To enable the Shortlist Group feature, this is a global setting. This implies that for all vacancies, Shortlist Groups must be created in order for an interview panel member to access the vacancy and applicants on the 'Interview Panel' widget.

Option	Description
Y	Shortlist Group feature is active. - Shortlist Groups must be created for the vacancy in order for an interview panel member to access the vacancy & applicants on the 'Interview Panel' widget.
N	Shortlist Group feature is not active. - No need to create a Shortlist Group. - Once a panel member has been added to the vacancy, they will have access to the vacancy & applicants on the Interview Panel widget without the need to be added to a Shortlist Group

4. Assessment Scorecards

4.1. Assessment Scorecards Overview

The Assessment Scorecard feature allows individual interview panel members to submit unique assessment details per applicant across the various stages of the recruitment process. Shortlisting Assessment Scorecards can be created and linked to the Interview Panel widget. Each individual panel member can submit their own unique scorecard for each applicant that they are reviewing during the shortlisting process.

Interview schedule Assessment Scorecards can also be created and associated with each individual interview schedule. Each individual panel member can submit their own unique scorecard for each applicant for each round of interviews that they are assigned to.

For both the shortlisting and interview schedule Assessment Scorecards, the recruitment administrator has the option to view the total averaged assessment score, for each round, per applicant.

It is possible to add an Assessment Scorecard for inclusion in the interview panel shortlisting process i.e. providing panel members with an Assessment Scorecard to complete for each applicant. Repeat the steps outlined for each individual interview schedule as required. Use the Applicant Status value to link the scorecard to an interview schedule with the same status i.e. the Status Of value on the schedule.

The Assessment Scorecards feature is used in conjunction with other standard Recruitment features including the Interviews widget, the Interview Panel and Shortlist Groups. Please ensure that you refer to the corresponding training material for these features, in order to ensure these are configured as required.

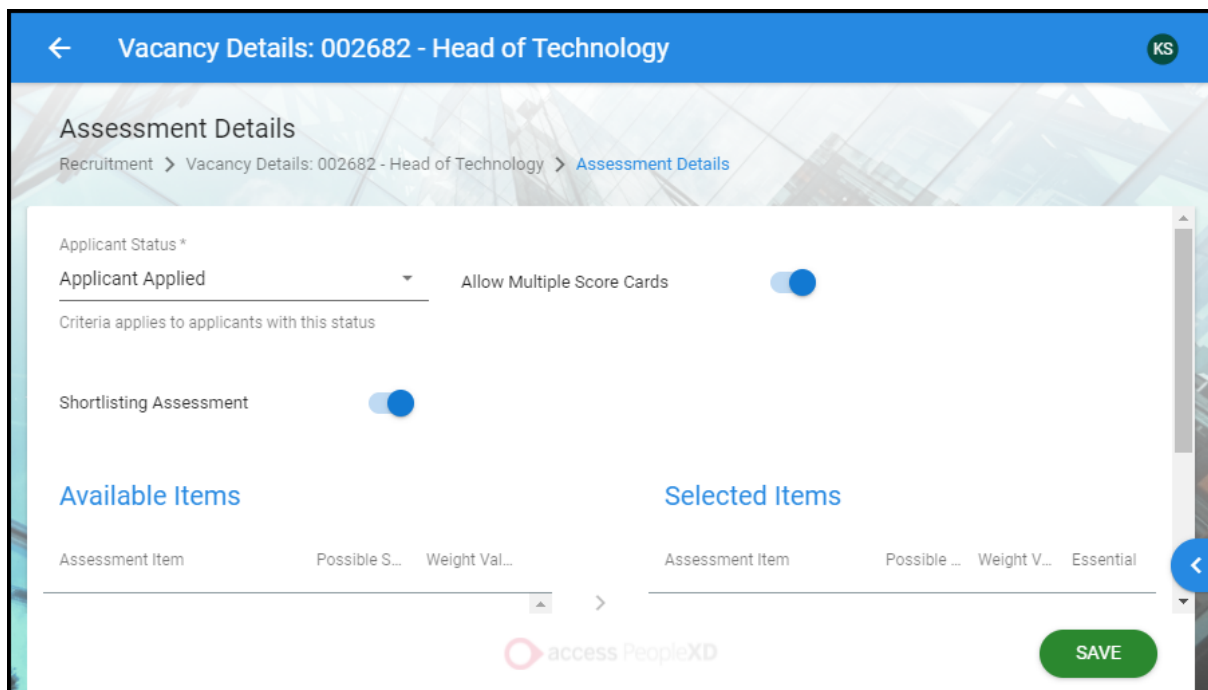

4.2. Creating an Assessment Scorecard

To create the Assessment Scorecard:

1. Go to Recruitment Dashboard > Vacancies > Edit Vacancy > Vacancy Details > Assessment.

2. Click the Add Assessment button.
3. The Assessment Details screen opens.

4. Select the Applicant Status that the assessment will be linked to e.g. "Interview Round 1".
