1. Overview

1.1. Purpose of the Guide

The purpose of this document is to provide guidance on how to use the competencies both as an employee and a manager. This are broken down into how to complete a competency profile, how to view the competency graphs provided. This guide also provides information on running competency reports within CoreHR and what notifications you can receive.

This guide includes how to navigate and use the dashboards and widgets available to CorePortal users for Talent

Note: This guide does not include:

- Steps on how to use Objectives
- Steps on how to use Reviews
- Steps on other lesser used features in the Talent module
- Configuration of Competency Profiles

1.2. What are competencies

A 'competency framework' is a structure that sets out and defines each individual competency (i.e. personal attributes or behaviours) that an employee has.

Individuals must have, or must acquire, these competencies to perform effectively at work.

Note: Each organisation has their own competencies and competency framework for which the following user guide consists of how to use standard features and functionality.

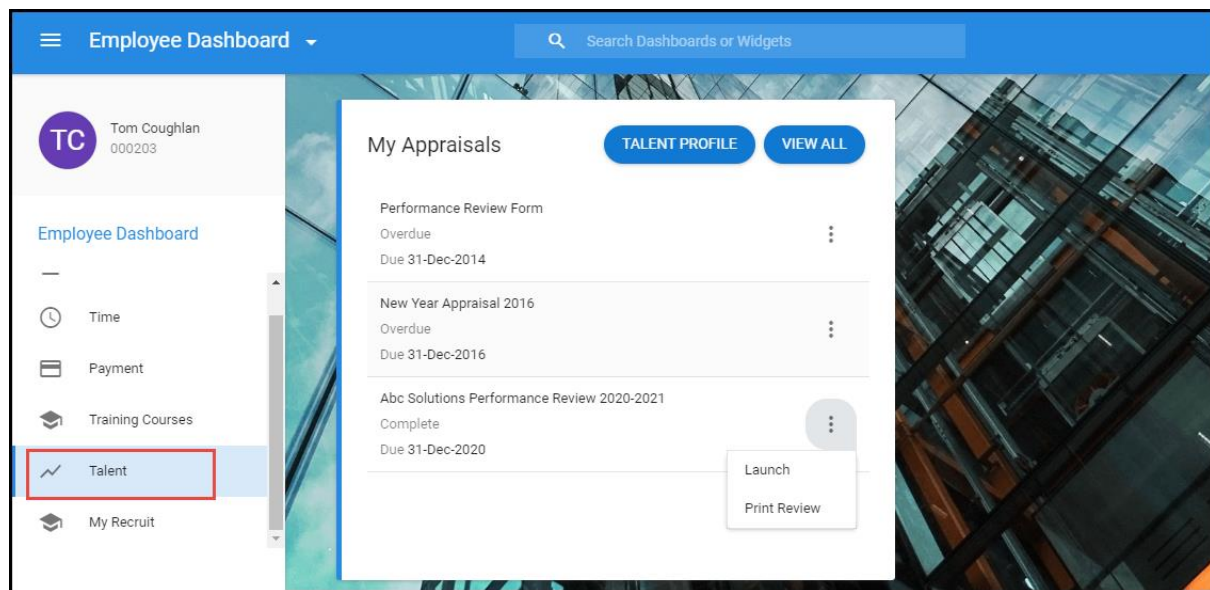

2. Employee Dashboard

2.1. Accessing Competencies

2.1.1. Review Profile

To access the Competencies on the Employee dashboard, follow the below steps

1. Go to the Employee Dashboard
2. Select the Talent tab
3. The My Appraisals widget appears on screen automatically.

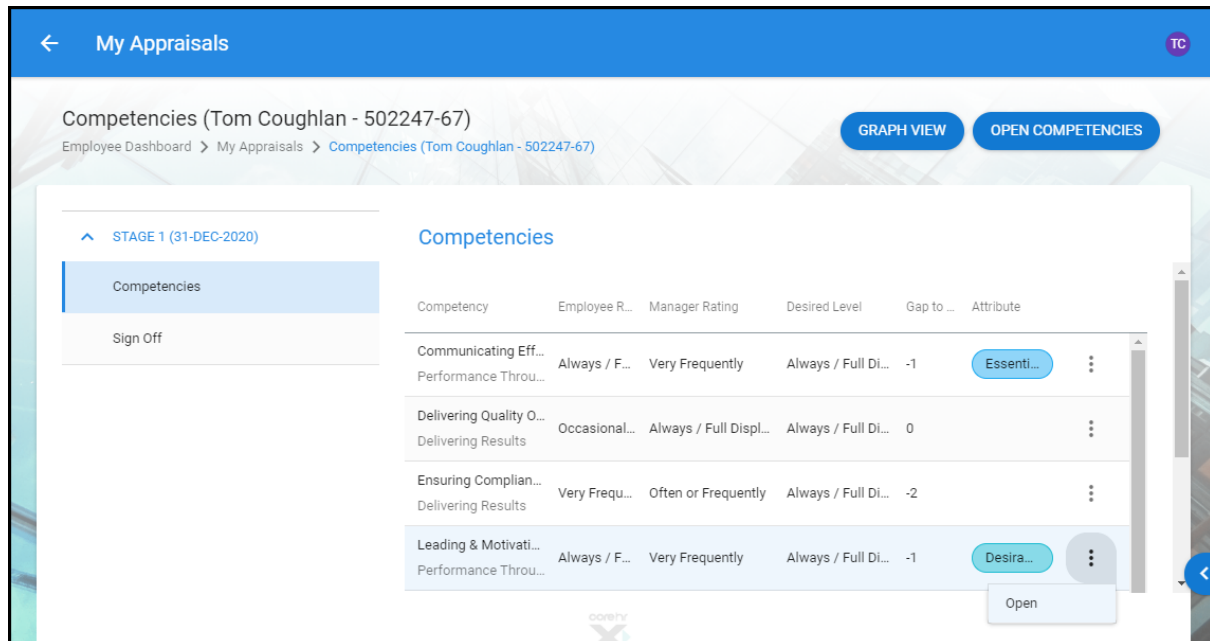

4. To open a review, click on the
5. Then click on the Launch button, and the Review Stages screen appears.

Note: Your organisation's review profile may look different to the example below. Once the competencies screen is open, the steps are the same. The review below, only has one Stage and one step, i.e. Competencies

2.2. Completing Competency Profile

2.2.1. Grid View

When the competency step has been clicked on the review stage, the grid view of the competencies opens by default. The following screenshot and table show what is available on screen:

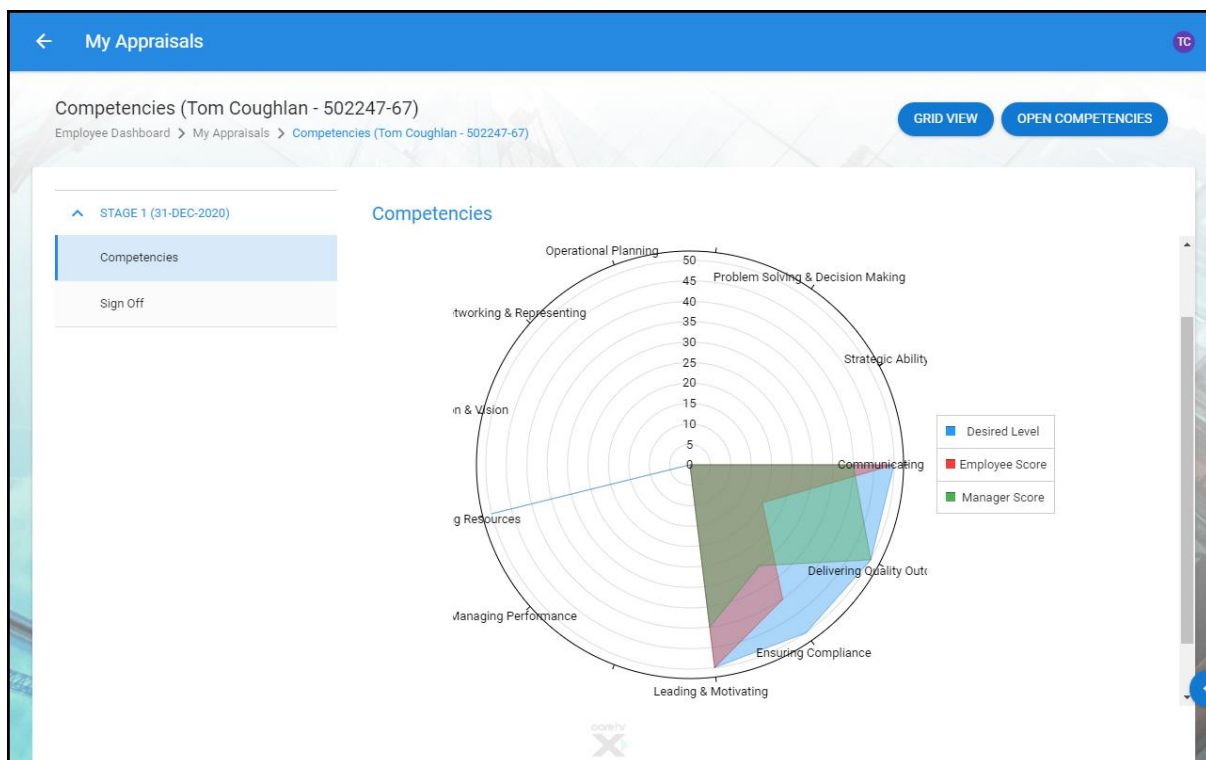

Note: If your company's competency framework has included specific questions per competency, the attributes Desirable & Essential do not appear on screen as these are tied to generic competencies.

Item	Description
Graph View	This allows you to switch the view of competencies into a spider diagram,
Open Competencies	This allows you to open the competency management screen for you to complete and update each competency.
Competency	This is the name of the competency / behaviour and it also shows the competency category.

Attribute	This shows if the competency is one of the following: - Essential - Desirable
Open	This is the same option as the Open Competencies button.

2.2.2. Graph View

- To view a spider graph of the competencies, click the Graph View on the competencies step screen.
- This shows a break-down of competency levels between 1 - 50. The lowest score is 1, with the highest being 50, for the most desired result.

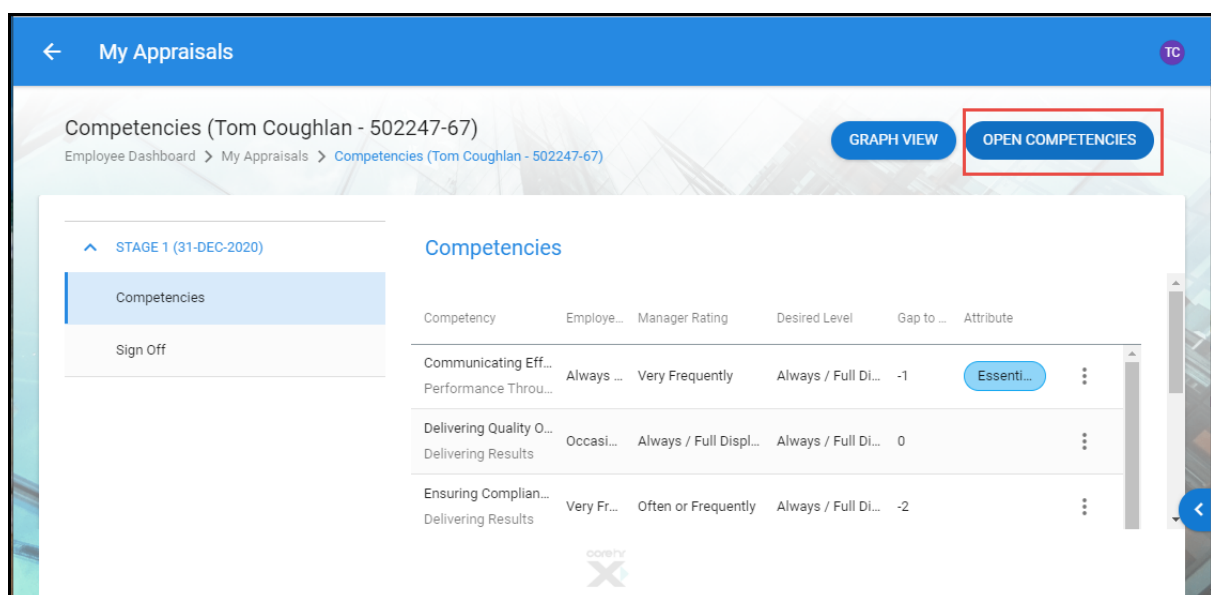

3. To return to the list of competencies, click the Grid View.

2.2.3. Open Competencies

To open the competencies screen to update and view the details of a competency or all competencies:

1. Go to the competency step of your review.
2. Click on the Open Competency button.

3. The competency management screen opens where you can view and update your competency rating based on your organisations levels and reference data.

2.2.4. General Competencies

Generic (or general) competencies are ones where no specific questions are asked of the employee. An overall rating is to be provided by the employee and the manager.

The following image shows how this appears on screen.
