1. Overview

1.1. Purpose of Document

The purpose of this document is to provide guidance on how the Delegation and My Team widgets can be used by users to reassign their own, or their colleagues, team area access to other colleagues. This includes:

- Team area delegation overview.
- How to configure CoreHR to support team area delegation.
- Employee Delegation and Manager Delegation.
- How to delegate.

Note:

- Widget & dashboard configuration for delegation is not covered in this document. For further information, view Org Role Delegation on the CoreHR University.
- Delegation of team area access will only assign access to the team areas, it will not assign any security menu profiles for processes or screens.
- Delegation of organisational roles will need to be completed separately if access to these areas is to be assigned.

1.2. Functionality Overview

1.2.1. Team Area Delegation

Users can temporarily delegate team area access to other users within a specified date range. This allows managers to access delegated team areas to complete approval actions.

All delegation has a from and to date, depicting how long the manager access is delegated. The end date can be left open ended if required.

During assigned team area delegation:

- When the assigned user has access to the team area on the system date, then they can view the team area.
- If the assigned user does not have access to the team area on the system date, they cannot view the team area.

There are two options for team area delegation:

- Employee Delegation
 - Employee delegation is where a user delegates their own team area access to a colleague.
- Manager Delegation
 - Manager delegation is where a user delegates another user's team area access on their behalf, to a colleague.

Note:

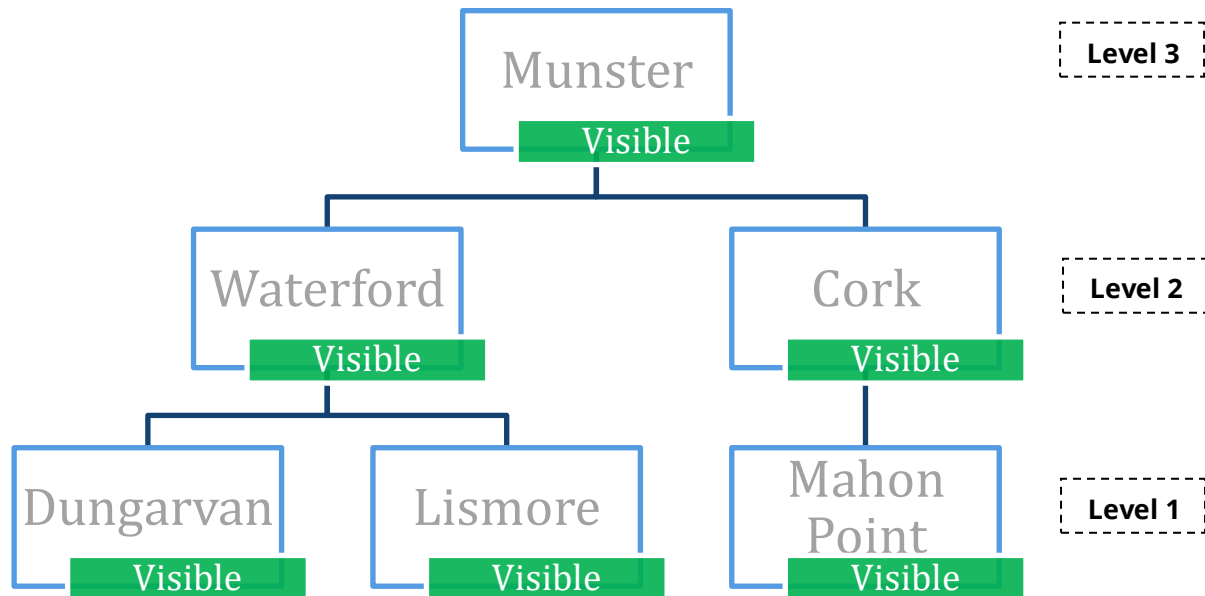

- Delegated users will only see the team areas for the duration within the from and to dates.
- After the to date, users will not see or have access to the team areas. Users will not see the history of changes they have completed for the team area once the delegation has expired.

1.2.2. Team Area Levels

A defined access level depicts which users are visible to choose from for team area delegation.

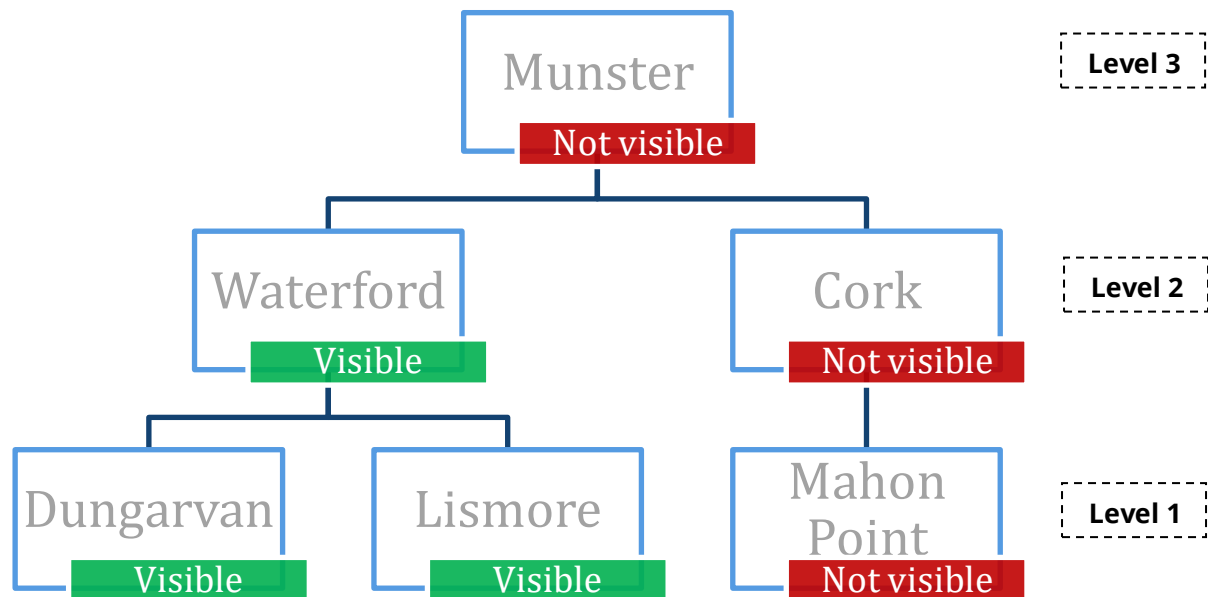

Example One: If there are 3 levels within the organisation as shown in the below diagram, and the delegation level for team areas is set to level 3.

Upon adding a delegation, users can see all other users who have access to a team area and are in the Munster store or sub stores.

Example Two: If there are 3 levels within the organisation as shown in the below diagram, and the delegation level for team areas is set to level 2.

Upon adding a delegation, users can only see other users within the Waterford or Cork store and/or sub stores, depending on which team they are in. The image below depicts what users are visible to the user who has Waterford team area access, where the delegation level for team areas is set to level 2.

2. Configuration

2.1. Widget & Dashboard Configuration

The Delegation widget will be shared on the Manager Dashboard. The tab this widget is available on can be decided per organisation.

Note:

Widget and dashboard configuration for delegation is not covered in this document. For further information, view Org Role Delegation on the CoreHR University.

2.2. Enable Team Area Delegation

Access to the Team Area delegation type is controlled using a menu option outlined below.

System	Menu Option
CorePortal	CorePortal – Team area Delegation

Once the above menu option is added to the applicable menu profile, the Team Area option is now available from Type drop-down list, on the Add Approver Delegation screen.

Delegation Levels Example

In this example, there are 3 levels within this organisation, as shown in the below diagrams, as the delegation level for team areas is set to 2, managers within the Waterford or Cork stores can only select from users within their store and their sub stores to delegate team area access, dependant on which store they are in.

Example 1: Waterford team area manager

Example 2: Cork team area manager

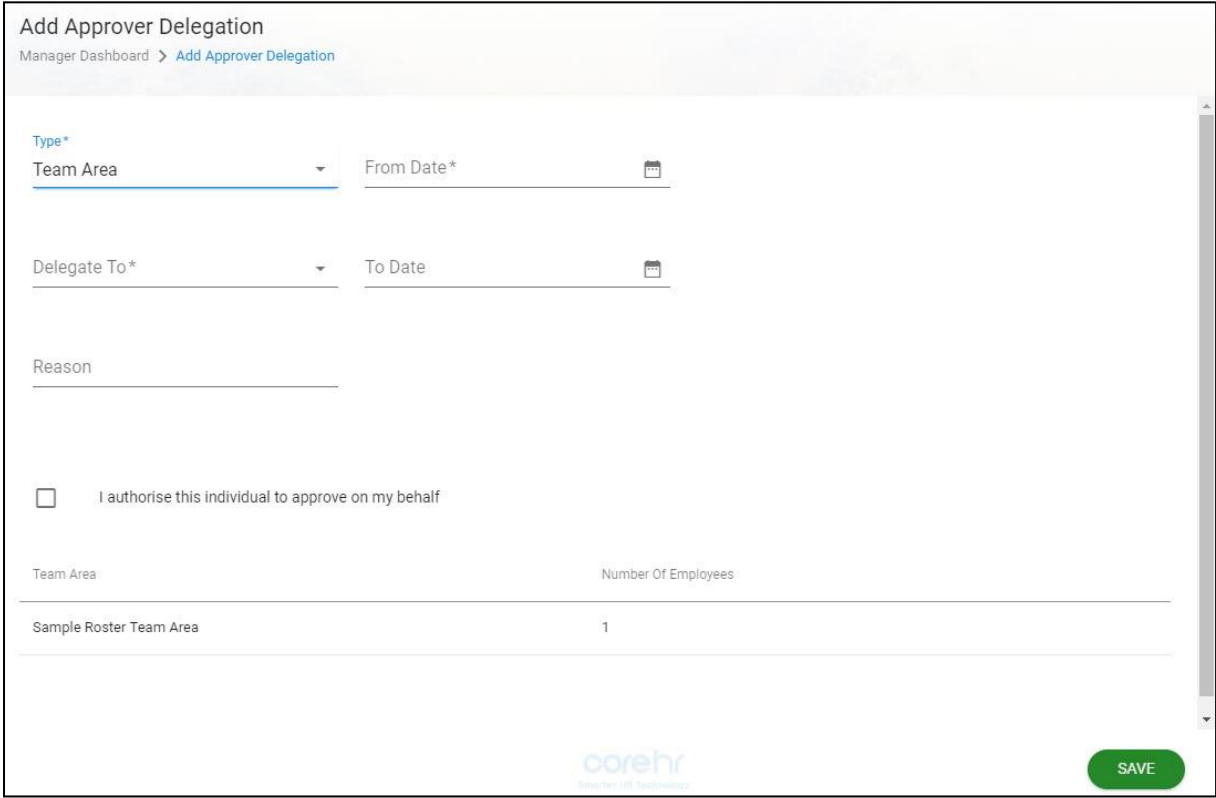

3. Delegation

3.1. Screen overview

Add Approver Delegation screen options	Explanation
Type	Details the type of delegation being input. Depending on user access, delegation types can include: - Expense - Hourly Timesheet - Org Role - Team Area
Delegate To	Users specify the other user for delegation to. A list of users they have visibility of is shown. The list visible to users is dependent on user access.
From Date	The delegated user is assigned access to the team areas for the specified dates only. The delegated user will see the additional teams from the date specified.
To Date	The delegated user is assigned access to the team areas for the specified dates only. Once this date has passed, the user will no longer see the team area that had been delegated. Delegated users will also not see any changes they made to the delegated team after this date.
Reason	A reason can be added to explain why the delegation is being added. For example, the team area manager may be taking annual leave.

I authorise this individual to approve on my behalf	This indicator must be switched on to confirm that the team area manager authorises the temporary delegation of roles to the user specified.
Team Areas	Team areas available for selection are based on teams the user has access to. • Select the team areas for delegation, from this list. • A count of employees is displayed, so the user is aware of how many employees are being delegated access for.
